

A guiding principle of the Urban Land Institute is that the achievement of excellence in land use practice & design should be recognised and rewarded. Since 1979, ULI has honoured outstanding development projects in both the private and public sectors. In a similar vein, property consultants

CBRE have been at the forefront in promoting excellence in placemaking across the globe.

The inaugural ULI IRELAND - EXCELLENCE IN PLACEMAKING AWARDS, supported by CBRE, will reward best practice in placemaking in the Irish market.

The awards will reward organisations and communities throughout Ireland that make genuine efforts to improve their local communities through the initiation of projects that add to the public realm and make these places better places in which to live, work and play.

Submissions are open to all public and private organisations and community groups and entry is FREE. The projects will be judged by a jury of Irish and international representatives from relevant fields including real estate, planning, development and design. Jurors will operate independently, applying the highest standards of evaluation and professional practice as reflected in the code of ethics of the Urban Land Institute.

ELIGIBILITY CRITERIA:

- The project must be located in Ireland.
- The project must be complete. However, the project need not be newly constructed or newly initiated.
- The project must demonstrate a high standard of excellence in design, planning, construction, economics and management.
- The project must demonstrate relevance to the contemporary and future needs of the community in which it is located.
- The project must be publicly accessible and provide benefit for the community in which it is located.
- The project must provide lessons, strategies, and techniques that could be used or adapted in other communities.

PROJECT SUBMISSION INSTRUCTIONS:

The Urban Land Institute and CBRE formally invites the submission of projects for consideration in the 2019 ULI Ireland - Excellence in Placemaking Awards. Completed application forms and accompanying photographs will be accepted electronically to Excellenceinplacemaking@uli.org. Closing date for receipt of applications will be January 31st, 2019. Those submitting applications may be contacted by the jury to obtain further information or to get clarification on certain items. If the submission advances to finalist status, at least one jury member will schedule and conduct a site visit to verify and possibly to expand upon all submitted information. Shortlisting and judging will be completed by March 2019 with winners announced at a gala event in May 2019.

AWARDS:

There will be a total of six awards. The winning project in each of the five category locations – (Dublin, Rest of Leinster, Munster, Connaught and Ulster) will win a bespoke trophy and the project will be showcased in the Irish media.

The winning entry in each of five locations will in turn be eligible for consideration for the overall national Placemaking award, the prize for which will be a contribution of €5,000 towards the design of a bespoke piece of sculpture, art or community project for the benefit of the local community in which the winning project is based.
